25 Nov 2020	Career and Goal Setting Mr. Sourabh Nanda, Pratham	Grades 10,11& 12	In today's fast paced and competitive world, one has to be up to the mark always. Gone are the days when only academics was the criteria for college admissions and for choosing a career line. One has to be active in other domains as well. Keeping this in mind, a session on 'Career and Goal Planning was organized in

	Organization		partnership with Pratham Organization. The Guest Speaker Mr. Sourabh Nanda had an expertise of guiding over 12000 regarding their career. During the session, the participants were given an idea about the importance of planning out there career in school itself and not wait for college time to start. One should strive to build one’s resume and be more self aware. When an individual knows his/ her strengths and weaknesses, then they are able to focus on areas which require more attention. The road map to college should be charted by the students, so planning should start NOW only and one should not wait for Grade 12 to get over. To begin with, one should have SMART Goals- they should be Specific, Measurable, Achievable, Realistic and Time-bound. They should be then able to outline the steps which can help them in achieving their goals as well. Gone are the days when only Professions like Doctor and Engineer were in demand and considered important. A discussion on how the scenario of college has changed over the years was also done. Examples were given to the students and the present situation was also discussed with them. This helped the students in understanding how the times have changed and they need to put in more efforts throughout. Towards the end, students clarified their doubts about various career options and seeked clarity from Mr. Sourabh Nanda. It was a great learning experience for our students.

28 Nov 2020	CPD Resource Person: Ms Manju Gupta KIS Principal	Teaching Faculty	This pandemic has put us in a situation where we are bound within the four walls of our houses. One is teaching students, evaluating them, guiding them using internet as a medium. But if we are not going out, this doesn't mean that we will be facing a barrier in our professional development. KIS Principal, Ms. Manju Gupta took a session on Professional Development for the teaching staff from Grades 9-12. During the 'Work from Home' situation, teaching scenario has changed completely. Who would have thought that the interaction between students and teachers would just limit across the screen? Teachers enhanced their potential and overcame this challenge. However, sky is the limit, and one should continue to enhance their skills- this was reinforced by the resource person time and again. There are so many tools which are still unexplored by the teachers and if they get the hang of it, then they can help themselves as well as their students. Personal and professional development is of utmost importance for us now. This can shape the career of the teachers, more beautifully. Professional development training can help teachers to become better at planning their time and staying organized. This ultimately makes teachers more efficient and gives them extra time to focus on students rather than the paperwork.
